MEMORIUM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear Mother and daughter, Mrs. J. H. O'Brien, who departed this life a year ago today, May 16, 1933.
It was late on Sunday evening, I shall never forget the day.
When an angel came and whispered, I must take the Dear One away.
We often think of you Dear One,
A voice we loved so well.
There is a vacant place in our home
That never can be filled,
Gone but not forgotten.

Asked To Keep Leaf Contracts

Splendid cooperation on the part of tobacco growers, local, community members, county agents and others interested in tobacco production has resulted in more than a 90 per cent sign-up of all tobacco growers for the 1934 adjustment program of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, thus assuring success of the plan to adjust production to demand and thereby bring about better prices to growers, states J. B. Hutton, chief of the tobacco section.

The next step is for all growers and field workers to fulfil the requirements of the contract in the same spirit in which it was signed. Mr Hutson says he is confident that this will be done for the reason that growers exhibited a high sense of loyalty and justice in meeting the difficult problems arising during the sign-up campaign.

Cakes That Win Compliments

WHAT an honest sense of achievement we have when our cake receives that sincere compliment— "another piece please!"

Such cakes have a delicate flavor and fragrance, with a fine, moist tender texture which is described by judges of cake as "velvety crumb."

Each of these cakes is a "velvety crumb" cake if you will follow directions carefully:

Lady Baltimore Cake

3 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons combination baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or other shortening
1½ cups sugar
½ cup milk
½ cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon almond extract
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Sift four once, measure, add baking powder and salt; sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, cream together until light and fluffy. Add flour, alternately with liquid, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add flavoring; fold in egg whites. Bake in two greased 9-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375°F.) 20 minutes. Spread Lady Baltimore Filling between layers and Lady Baltimore Frosting over cake. Double recipe to make three 10-inch layers.

Lady Baltimore Frosting and Filling

1½ cups sugar
½ teaspoon light corn syrup
⅔ cup boiling water
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
6 figs, chopped
½ cup raisins, chopped
½ cup pecan or walnut meats, chopped

Combine sugar, corn syrup, and water. Bring quickly to a boil, stirring only until sugar is dissolved. Boil rapidly, without stirring, until a small amount of syrup forms a soft ball in cold water, or spins a long thread when dropped from tip of spoon (240°F.). Pour syrup in fine stream over egg whites, beating constantly. Add vanilla. Continue beating with a rotary egg beater 10 to 15 minutes, or until frosting is cool and of right consistency to spread. Use wooden spoon when too stiff for beater. For filling, add enough frosting to fruit and nuts to make a filling that will spread easily. Spread between layers. Spread remaining frosting on top and sides of cake. Makes enough filling and frosting to spread between layers and top and sides of Lady Baltimore Cake.

Hungarian Cream Cake

2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons combination baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
1¼ cups heavy cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Add sugar gradually to eggs, and beat well. Add flour, alternately with cream, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in a greased pan, 8x8x2 inches, in moderate oven (350°F.) 50 minutes. Spread with your favorite chocolate frosting.

New Burge's Cafe To Open Here Wednesday May 30

The H. M. Burge Co. Inc. announces in today's Times-Virginian the opening on next Wednesday, May 30, of "Burge's Cafe," the newly constructed building adjacent to the Burge store.

The concensus of opinion of those have already inspected the Cafe, is that it will be one of the most attractively fitted and appointed establishments anywhere in this section of Virginia. Many have been heard to exclaim: "This will be a show place for Appomattox" and "Our town surely is stepping our now."

The building is located between the Burge store and service station. The service station is commodious front room, a dining room entered from the service station side, a ladies' lounge room, and the kitchen.

The main front room has a complete modern fountain. Along one side is a rom of booths for table and luncheonette service. A large radio has also been placed in this room for the entertainment of the customers. The walls and fixtures are exquisitely decorated, the whole appearance being what one would expect it a metropolitan establishment.

The ladies' lounge room is entered from the front room, and is a feature created to find favor with the fair sex here.

The dining room is entered from the service station side and will be the opening room next Wednesday. It will cater to the public like a good old country meal of home foods, served in an attractive atmosphere.

Mr. Burge states today that they had quite a time selecting a name for the cafe. More than two hundred names were submitted in a contest announced through this paper. Before the selecting started, a secretary gave each entry a number, so that the name of the person offering the name would be unknown to those making the choice. The winner got a $5 meal ticket, and for second a choice of an item or two or a change of oil was given.

The following furnished fixtures, equipment, work or will render services to the Cafe: Strother Drug Co., H. C. Blackwell, J. J. Bankers Aiding Agriculture

State associations of bankers in many agricultural states are giving time and financial support to encourage practices among their farmers that will bring about better farm results.

The major activities reported from one state to the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association which is nationally active in promoting this line of cooperation are as follows:

1. Drought relief work: Local banks have played a vital part in this work, being represented on the county committees for passing on all seed loans. These committees met practically every day during the spring to pass on the loans made in got as quick action as possible. A total of $22,-

2. Four-H Club work: Banks have helped stimulate 4-H Club work, financing many members who otherwise could not have attended. They also helped finance fifteen 4-H Club delegates to the state club convention.

3. Livestock feeding: The banks cooperated with the Extension Service in the state and the railroads in increasing the amount of livestock feeding. Assistance was given the feeders in securing finances for their feeding operations.

Improved Pasture Pays

IMPROVED pastures are a cheap source of feed for stock, A farmer in New Hampshire, cooperating with the county agent top-dressed his 8 acres of pasture with 500 pounds of complete fertiliser at a cost of $75, reports the United States Department of Agriculture. After 4 weeks he turned his cows out on this pasture. Tests made during the six weeks the cows grazed there showed that his herd produced 7,500 pounds more milk than they did in the same period the previous year, although the farmer had one cow fewer and fed 800 pounds less grain. Based on current milk prices he made $180 on the extra milk and saved $16 on the grain, netting him an increase in income of $196.—U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Word "Acre" Used Plural When Referring to Lands

The word acre has been used by modern writers, particularly in the plural, for lands, fields, and landed estates. We speak of broad acres and fair acres. We speak also of God's acre when we refer to a burial ground.

Etymologically, acre has been traced to Anglo-Saxon ecer, open country, forest, or untenanted land. With the development of agriculture, the term was used to designate (1) land used for pasturage; (2) tilled land; (3) an enclosed or defined piece of land; a field without limitation of size; (4) a piece of land of definite size; hence, a land measure. Since 975 the meaning "a piece of land" has been in use. Therefore, in the expression "150 acres of land," the words "of land" are not necessary. The use of the words "of land" with acre has probably been due to the fact that some other word has intervened, as, "ten acres of arable land," "five acres of wood land," "an acre of barren land," etc., all expressions that have come down to us from Tudor times.

In loose usage, acres has been applied to other things. For example, in 1820 the phrase "a few acres of real lace" was used by General Thompson in a book on "Exercises"; and in 1866 Carlyle, in his "Life of Frederick the Great," referred to his subject as having written "acres of despatches to Prince Eugene." Such loose usage is not accepted as correct, and phrases like "an acre of wood in length," and "one acre in breadth" are marked incorrects from Domesday Book.—Literary Digest.

"NO SPOONING!"—Well, not with highballs, anyway!" The spoon is the enemy of the highball, and by using Billy Baxter Self-Stirring Club Soda, this charming New York miss avoids spooning, stirring and enjoys better highballs. The activation of the highly compressed air does the stirring.
